

Cascade Clamps

Cascade Clamp - Cascade Manufacturing Company was established in Portland, Oregon in the year 1943. They began as a small machine shop in the beginning employing four individuals. Sales for their first year of operation totaled $60,000. The first recorded sales revenues involved the assembly and machining of stainless steel pipe fittings, valves and other components. Throughout 5 years of operation, the business had stretched to 40 staff and their yearly sales volume had risen to 330 thousand dollars. These days, Cascade is among the top international manufacturers within the material handling trade.

Design and production of the company's initial hydraulic cylinder allowed this young company to aggressively engage in better business opportunities. All through the last sixty years, the business of material handling has developed into a really complex field with Cascade proudly playing a part in its improvement. Cascade at present continues to develop as the premier supplier of lift truck attachments and different related items. The company feels confident in their capability to continue to lead the way within the business by understanding customer's requirements in the future and remaining aggressive within the international market.

In the nineteen fifties, Cascade began designing, fabricating and selling hydraulic attachments. Construction was completed in 1956 on a new office to accommodate all the plant and office operations in Portland, Oregon at the company's present headquarters. After fifteen years of business, total employees reached one hundred eighty employees and sales had reached nearly 2.3 million dollars.

The next manufacturing plant was built in the year 1959 in Springfield, Vallejo. 1960 marked Cascade's initial transfer into the international world of the material handling industry as the company recognized interest in Australia, the Netherlands and England.

The company changed its name to Cascade Corporation in 1964. In 1965, Cascade went public with a preliminary offering of 200,000 shares of common stock. The company has expanded its production facilities throughout the U.S. with locations in Warner Robins, Georgia, Portland, Oregon and Springfield, Vallejo. Cascade merchandise are fabricated internationally because of a lot of subsidiary operations. In the year 1944, a brand new facility was accomplished in Almere, the Netherlands which is Cascade's European control center. This plant is made to be the essential customer service centre.

Cascade further expanded their product base in the year 1996 and the year 1997 after buying 5 corporations, which included the Kenhar Corporation, the global leader in forks.
